THE PIER-2 ART CENTER

2023 YOUTH INNOVATIVE DESIGN FESTIVAL

Give full support to new creators and let the youth design the future!

The curators of the Youth Innovative Design Festival observe the current design trend exhibitions and competitions from different perspectives and provide a special stage for new designers to present their creations. We believe that young designers can change the world! This year, the Youth Innovative Design Festival has entered its 14th year. The IF OFFICE team is specially invited to create a new professional image for the festival based on brand identity design.

May is the most exciting time at Pier-2 Art Center. We are planning a variety of activities to enhance the breadth and depth of the Youth Innovative Design Festival. In addition to the university exhibition area in the large warehouses in the Dayong and Penglai area, the independent exhibition area is designed to break through the graduation exhibition framework and showcase students' unique views on design. Excellent works from different schools, departments and classes are displayed in small units.

The international exhibition area of the Youth Innovative Design Festival, "Youth Ping-pong Club: Taking the Initiative with Design," was planned by curator Lin Wei-jhe. The exhibition presented the design philosophy of designers Tachikawa Eisuke, Yui Takada and four Taiwanese designers in Japan in a simple way. Communicating with domestic and foreign designers can broaden the students' vision of design. In addition, three famous international designers, Tachikawa Eisuke, Yui Takada, and Shun Sasaki, will be invited to the exhibition during the event to discuss the ups and downs of being a designer with the audience.

And every year, the best creative design competition, with a dream jury of designers representing a wide range of fields, including Aaron Nieh, director of Aaron Nieh Workshop, Zeng Shi-kai, design director of Studio Shikai, Ye Yan-bo, CEO of WHYIXD, Wu Han-jhong, CEO of Society Design Firm, Fang Syu-jhong, creative director of Joe Fang Studio and musician Chen Chien-chi. The best design of the year will be selected soon after the review. Please look forward to it!

In addition to the indoor exhibition, there will also be design-related markets on the weekends! The Youth Film Festival, which will be held at the same time, will not only screen the outstanding shortlisted films at the Kaohsiung Film Archive, but also hold an awards ceremony in conjunction with the Youth Innovative Design Festival. Come to Pier-2 Art Center this May and feel the energy of youth about to explode.

Independent Session

- Dayong Warehouse C3

The Youth Innovative Design Festival provides a special stage for new designers. Every year in May, students will showcase their boundless imagination and unlimited creativity for the future.

The exhibition covers a variety of categories, including video and audio media, visual communication, three-dimensional modeling and product design, digital multimedia and game, architecture and spatial design, fashion, music design, interdisciplinary design, etc.

Youth Ping-pong Club: Taking the Initiative with Design

What is design? How can design thinking change our lives and create value? In the era of AI, everything can be replaced, but the flexible thinking and views of people cannot be simulated. In this exhibition, Japanese designers Tachikawa Eisuke and Yui Takada, who are committed to design thinking and innovative thinking, together with four Taiwanese designers who live in Japan, construct different modes of thinking with "ping-pong" through international design perspectives and open up more possibilities for thinking.

Unseen Mangakas | Whose Face Behind Female Characters

05.02-10.10

Dayi Warehouse C7: A.C.G.N. Warehouse

The theme of this exhibition is portraits of females, focusing on the stories of females with different faces and lives in the eight anime works. Do you ever think that the artists of the characters are women, men, or a collaboration of women and men?

The works on display are inspired by the lives of the artists. Although they are fictional characters, the paintings still contain the thoughts and memories of the artists. Like self-portraits, they offer a glimpse into their self-image and society.

By understanding the connection between the artist and the character, the exhibition will allow visitors to imagine the person behind the story and discover the artist behind the character.

Trade Journey to Hamasen

Stroll through the centuries-old neighborhoods of the port city

Meet the old times in the red brick house

Kaohsiung is a city built around a harbor. To explore the history of Kaohsiung, we start with the trading life of the common people...

From the opening of Kaohsiung Port in the 19th century, the British Consulate and Customs witnessed Kaohsiung's leap to the world's economic and trade stage; in the early 20th century, the Tainan-Kaohsiung railroad was completed and the Kaohsiung Port construction project created Taiwan's first modern reclaimed land, "Hamasen".

Kaohsiung's first modern market, new docks, railroads and train stations began here. It still stands for "Red Brick House in Shinhama District 1-chome" from the Showa period. The architectural form of shops on the first floor and residences on the second floor above bears witness to the lives of the Taiwanese people who gathered here.

Walking through the alleys of Hamasen, you can feel the First Street of Finance a hundred years ago, passers-by hurrying to and from the docks and train stations, businessmen and tourists waiting for business opportunities or hurrying to the train station to meet friends, or staying at the Haruta Hotel ready to face the challenges of a new day. The old history of the port city is being played out.

Double Classics

Wandering in the absurdity of the human world: Spike Jonze and Charlie Kaufman Spike Jonze and Charlie Kaufman, both capable screenwriters and directors, have unique insights into human consciousness and emotion, the absurdity and meaninglessness of life. Their two films together, Being John Malkovich and Adaptation, are timeless classics in their own right.
